

The Times

PUBLISHED EVERY MORNING
(Copyright, 1888)

Cutter & Washington Street and Fifth Avenue

BY JAMES J. WEST.

TI ENDAY, JULY 31, 1888.

The great demand for The Times yesterday morning proves that the public is deeply interested in the exposures of factory life in Chicago, which this newspaper is now engaged in making. A sufficient number of copies of yesterday's edition to meet all reasonable demands have been run off, so that those who have not yet seen the first chapter and who would like to have the story entire can be supplied at the business office.

The several instalments of hard facts is presented this morning. People engaged in reformatory work will find plenty of food for reflection in the recital.

But Green's bad factory is not the only place in Chicago where poverty is employed at starvation wages to make profit for greedy manufacturers. We lay high tariffs for the purpose, we are told, of enriching, employing, and dignifying American labor. We protect it from the palaver of Europe. The policy helps the manufacturer, but labor is getting enriched nor emblamed. Labor papered, sufficed, comforted, and pampered, is the victim partly of its own necessities, partly of the avarice and the inhumanity of men who know how to use it to their own great advantage.

Breakfasting with the wife of a rich Virginia planter, John Randolph was importuned by his hostess for a contribution in aid of the benighted sons of Africa. He refused. Raging from the house his host picked it away among a lot of naked picks, many rolling in dirt and using their tongues vilely. He returned to the mansion and grimly confronted his hostess with the remark: "Madame, the beaten are at your door."

Paper labor is at our own doorway. It is here in miserable abundance right in this great and wealthy city of Chicago. Women and girls are the greatest sufferers in an industrial condition where advantage is taken of their poverty and their helplessness. Doff with the needle they turn naturally to emplishment where that implement is a factor, and their reward is generally the reward of the woman who sang "Hallelujah, song, and hymn, and trumpet, and organ, and hand,

The TIMES has gathered and is publishing every available fact concerning the fate of Harrison, the anarchist leader, who has been admitted to bail.

A SUNDAY observance society is trying to enforce the laws at Daviessville, Ill.

"EMPEROR WILLIAM was received by King Christian of Denmark at Copenhagen.

A MICHIGAN man quenched by exploding a stick of Hercules powder in his mouth.

A CRAZY farmer in Delaware cracked off the toes from one of his feet with an ax.

The mayor of Sligo, Ireland, has been sent to prison for publishing boycotting notices.

Fairly cool weather with northwesterly winds is the prediction for today.

SEVERAL people narrowly escaped cremation at an early morning fire in a South-side tenement.

GEORGE LEWIS, who was shot by his brother at Horicon, Wisconsin, was shot by another's mother.

HENRY WATTERSON has been absent the year on which President Cleveland is serving his vacation.

JEFFERSON TATE, instructed the grand jury to consider the bribery cases regardless of consequences.

A MERCHANDISE AT Alhambra was robbed of $6,000 in bonds while removing them from the bank to his office.

SEVENTY letter-carriers have been added to the Chicago postal service under the new postage appropriation bill.

SENATOR MITCHELL of the 3d Infantry was awarded the divisional skirmish medal in the military show at Fort Snelling.

A BILL has been introduced in the Senate by Mr. Blair to amend the law prohibiting transportation of foreigners under contract.

The Canadian government will remedy existing discriminations against American vessels passing through Canadian canals.

BANISTER, Gossling, and Koepel, three of the "co-conspirators," were held to the grand jury after the preliminary hearing at Aurora.

HOUS are still blooming in this market. They advanced yesterday another 10¢/15 cents, and sold at $6 20¢/5 15, according to quality.

ITALIAN immigrants testified before the investigating committee at New York. They can get work and are supported by charity.

As chief of the Salvation army in the United States has been accused of embezzling material valued at $80,000 belonging to the army.

PORTER, the former clerk of Fowler Brothers' Chicago packing-house, who forged checks for $4,000, has been brought back from Canada.

An edition on the Burlington road in Wisconsin between a passenger train and boxcars an engineer and fireman were badly injured.

PALMER AND MICHIGAN. Senator Palmer of Michigan declines to stand for reelection. Michigan is one of the states in which the political change is to be made for this fall.

It is well known that the local organs decided not to carry for the republicans unless Alger were the nominee, and while they will not stand for him, he will stand for them.

He then declared the fact remains that both proletarians and laborers, grocers, grocers and the regulars of democracy are to be no more for wage-earners than is done for the poor creatures of Chicago who wear themselves out in an effort to gain a woe of labor what an employer would spend on a single laugh for himself and realize as the fruit of their labor barely enough to keep body and soul together.

One might wish to be a "hale along with the baronous Turk, where woman never a soul to save." If Christianity and the protective tariff can do no more for wage-earners than is done for the poor creatures of Chicago who wear themselves out in an effort to gain a woe of labor what an employer would spend on a single laugh for himself and realize as the fruit of their labor barely enough to keep body and soul together.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years. Of course he was a good boy.

In Washington we got news of the pay. Two years ago he was on the way to the West in a boat when he got paid off, and he was paid only what he had earned.

He had 50¢ left and he went to the hotel and got a meal.

An old exchange editor with some feeling of sadness who used to want to have himself called "the old exchange" for this fall.

The girl who works in one of those cheap coffee-houses is like unto the man who had the 100 sheep, who sold his coat to buy bread.

Then the delinquent found that both proletarians and laborers, grocers, grocers and the regulars of democracy are to be no more for wage-earners than is done for the poor creatures of Chicago who wear themselves out in an effort to gain a woe of labor what an employer would spend on a single laugh for himself and realize as the fruit of their labor barely enough to keep body and soul together.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 2d year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 3d year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 4th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 5th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 6th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 7th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 8th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 9th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 10th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 11th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 12th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 13th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 14th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 15th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 16th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 17th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 18th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 19th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 20th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 21st year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 22nd year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 23rd year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 24th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 25th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 26th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 27th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 28th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 29th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 30th year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 31st year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.

In the 32nd year he got the 50¢ left and he got a meal.

The woman just married her sweetheart and, though payed off entirely, she used to come to see him every day, and kept it up, even though he had not the time to go to her.

His sweetheart, however, got to see him to the last, and all the while he was in his cups he stole a horse.

He was arrested, indicted, tried, and found guilty.

He was sentenced to twenty years.